France and America.

Tariff Dispute Between the Two Countries

DISCUSSED BY FRENCH PRESS.

One Paper Thinks That Americans Can Not Exist Without French Wines. Other Dispatches from Over the Ocean.

LONDON, Sept. 1.—The chief topic of discussion in French press continues to be the tariff dispute with America. The articles show a great variety of opinions as to the proper course to be pursued by the government. Some of the writers advocate a bold policy of self-protection regardless of possible retaliation by the United States, while others betray an almost ludicrous terror lest France should lose the American custom for some of her most important products. These latter beseech the government not to do anything to anger the Washington government.

Among the former class of journals is La Liberta, which says that the resolution in the American senate, authorizing the president to exclude the products of any country that discriminates against American products, is nonsense, as America could never do without French wines, and the best classes in the United States would protest against being deprived of that and other luxuries and necessaries supplied by France, and the whole topic is a burning one for French producers. The English merchandise Mark's act has greatly injured French trade with Great Britain, as French goods can no longer be sold as of English manufacture, and the American tariff bill has put the French in a still unhappier frame of mind.

A Strike Growing Serious.

MELBOURNE, Sept. 1.—The excitement over the strike of seamen, miners and other workingmen is increasing, and the situation is growing more serious. The entire police force and 1,000 special constables were on duty in this city yesterday, but the labor demonstration passed off quietly. There were 40,000 men in the procession, representing all the trades. At the meeting which followed a resolution was adopted thanking the English unions for their financial support. Owing to labor troubles the gas companies are unable to furnish a full supply of gas and the streets are partially lighted with electricity. The Sydney government has decided to barricade a portion of the circular quay in order to afford security to the "blacklegs" against attack from the union strikers.

Terrible State of Affairs.

LONDON, Sept. 1.—The Daily News' dispatch from Igdir says that it is reported that the governors in Armenia have been ordered to arrest as conspirators any Armenians found conversing together in the street and to send them to Constantinople. If they resist they are to be shot down.

Great Damages Done by Floods.

GENEVA, Sept. 1.—The excessive rains resulting in serious floods have converted the Austro-Swiss frontier into a series of lakes. Hundreds of houses are isolated by the flood and immense damage has been done to crops and property of various kinds.

Honoring Dr. Peters.

BERLIN, Sept. 1.—The emperor has conferred the crown order of the third class upon Dr. Peters. The doctor was invited to the imperial palace to recount his travels to the emperor. Several of the royal princes were also present to listen to the recital.

A Strike Averted.

LONDON, Sept. 1.—The signal men on the Welch railways have been granted the concessions by them, and the threatened general strike to enforce the demands is abated.

Looks Rather Suspicious.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 1.—Edward Farrell and Hugh Murphy, of Manyunk, each aged about 12 years, were stealing apples from an orchard yesterday when Farrell was shot in the abdomen and fatally wounded. Farrell was standing in the road and Murphy was picking up the apples in the orchard when a shot was heard and Farrell called to Murphy that he had been shot. Murphy helped Farrell home and then went to his own home where he remained but a short time. Shortly after he had disappeared a revolver was found in his room with one chamber empty. Farrell will die.

A Little Girl's Skull Crushed.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 1.—At Chambersburg Saturday night a traveling acrobat named Bond attempted to give a tight rope performance. One end of the rope was fastened to tree and the other to a pole placed on the ground. Bond was so drunk he could scarcely go through his performance, and as he was about concluding it the pole fell and struck a little girl in the crowd named Nannie Eyer, crushing her skull and breaking both her legs, from which injuries she died in few hours. Bond was arrested and the coroner is investigating the case. The victim was 11 years of age.

Italians Mangled by an Explosion.

NARRAGANSETT PIER, R. I., Sept. 1.—A cartridge in a hole drilled in a large rock, which is being removed to accommodate the sewer system, was exploded Saturday by some Italians. One man's arm was shattered and his body so riddled with stone that he died in two hours. Another had both eyes blown out. A third had a cut made in his scalp and barely escaped being brained, while two others were severely hurt. Their names are not known.

WEATHER CROP BULLETIN.

Latest Report Sent Out by the Agricultural Department.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1.—The weather crop bulletin issued for the past week says: The weather during the past week in the w[illegible]and corn regions of the central [illegible]e, and northwest was general[illegible]e, and the condition of all crop[illegible]proved. The harvesting of Wh[illegible]terrupted in Minnesota and North [illegible]kota by rain.

The corn crop was greatly improved, although the weather was too cool for rapid growth. Iowa reports corn and potatoes improving, better crop than was expected a month ago, but two or three weeks of favorable weather will be necessary to place the corn crop out of danger. From Kansas eastward to Ohio and Kentucky the corn crop was much improved. Missouri reports prospects of an average crop, and in Kentucky corn and tobacco were greatly improved with prospects of a better crop than was expected.

In the west gulf states the weather was generally favorable for cotton; the crop is opening well in Arkansas; picking has progressed rapidly in Texas. Some damage was caused to the cotton crops in Mississippi, Louisiana and Tennesee by recent heavy rain and injury from ballworms is reported from portions of Mississippi and Louisiana. All crops were improved from Alabama eastward to North Carolina and South Carolina, and cotton picking is progressing rapidly.

In New Jersey, Pennsylvania and Virginia the crops were greatly improved, except in the northern portion of Virginia. New Jersey reports conditions favorable to all crops and that the yield of cranberries will be 15 per cent. greater than that of last year. Fine weather favored the housing of a large tobacco crop of excellent quality in Pennsylvania. In New York the weather was too cool for rapid growth of corn and heavy rains caused injury to potatoes.

Reports from New England show that corn is maturing slowly, and it will require several weeks more of favorable weather to assure a good crop. Light frost occurred in the Connecticut valley on the 24th.

In Oregon the weather was favorable for harvesting and threshing, both of which are nearly completed. The absence of rain favored the drying of a large prune crop, and the hop crop will be ready for picking next week.

INCENDIARY FIRES.

A Number of Brooklyn Buildings Set on Fire and Several People Injured.

NEW YORK, Sept. 1.—Fires that were plainly of incendiary origin started in six different localities in Brooklyn Saturday and early Sunday morning, and resulted in the injury of several persons and the arrest of two men on suspicion of being the incendiaries. Two of the fires were started in the cellars of crowded tenement houses, and in the last one, which occurred at 1:30 in the morning, three of the occupants were severely burned in making their escape. Their names were: Mary Moar, 9 years old; John Schmidt, aged 19 months, and Ann O'Reilly, aged 22 years.

The occupants of the tenanted houses in most cases narrowly escaped death. Rushes were made to the windows in frantic efforts to get out and many threw themselves over the iron railings of the fire escapes, where they hung until rescued by the firemen. In addition to the injured mentioned, a baby of Annie O'Reilly, 6 months old, was so badly burned that it will probably die. Several of the tenants who were aroused from their beds by the alarm became dazed and groped their way through the smoke-filled corridor from which they were taken out by the rescuers. One fireman was overcome by smoke and removed to the hospital. The aggregate loss was small, as the fires were promptly extinguished.

Barn Burned by Incendiaries.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 1.—About 9 o'clock last night fire was discovered in the large barn containing 10,000 bales of straw, adjoining the main stable on Senator Stanford's Palo Alto ranche. By the light of the burning straw two men were seen running away. Shots were fired at them, but they escaped. When the fire hose was got out it was found that a knot had been tied in the middle of it to render it useless. The fire was confined to the barn, the loss on which, with its contents, is $7,000.

Fight to a Finish.

MEMPHIS, Sept. 1.—Tommy Banforth, of Streator, Ill., and "Reddy" Drennan, of Memphis, fought a finish fight with two-ounce gloves yesterday for a purse of $500, at Mound City, Ark., about five miles from here. The men weighed about 128 pounds each. Brennan secured the first knock down in the first round and first blood in the second, and finally knocked him out in the eighth round by a terrible right-hand uppercut over the left eye, following it up with a heavy blow on the neck. Both men were badly punished.

Air Ship Explodes.

LINCOLN, Neb., Sept. 1.—The "City of London," Professor Ten Broeck's air ship, exploded near this city yesterday afternoon just as the professor was preparing to make an ascension. F. F. Knapp, an assistant, was badly injured. The balloon was entirely consumed. The air ship was valued at $4,000.

Valuable Mill Burned.

MINNEAPOLIS, Sept. 1.—The Leighton saw mill was totally destroyed by fire at 6 o'clock Sunday morning. The mill was leased by Frederick S. Irvens, and was valued at $60,000; insured for $40,000. About 300 men are thrown out of employment. The cause of the fire is unknown.

Two Men Blown to Atoms.

DURANGO, Col., Sept. 1.—By a premature explosion in the Lexington tunnel yesterday two workmen, F. W. Bennett and David Williams, were blown to atoms.

Congressional Matters

A Forecast of the Week's Work

IN BOTH SENATE AND HOUSE.

The Senate Will Finish the Tariff Debate but a Vote Will Not Be Taken Until Next Week—Contested Election Case to Be Decided by the House.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1.—The senate will conclude this week the consideration of the tariff bill. The vote will not be taken until the week following, but all general debate will come to a close this week. Some of the most important features of the bill, particularly the reciprocity question and sugar clause, are still to be debated, and as so little time remains at the disposal of senators for the discussion of these matters, every possible moment will be utilized and night sessions will be held on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

The conference report on the river and harbor bill is about ready and will probably be laid before the senate tomorrow. Secretary Frye will doubtless ask that it be printed and then he will ask that it be agreed to. If any disposition is shown to debate it, it will be allowed to go on until the tariff discussion is concluded; but Senator Frye believes that it can be disposed of without debate. The conference report on the land grant forfeiture bill which is now pending will also be allowed to go over till next week, tariff talk, therefore, will absorb the attention of the senate during the week.

Bills in the house calendar will be called up for passage in the house on Monday which is "Suspension Day" under the rules. On Monday in accordance with notice previously given, the contested election case of Clayton against Breckenridge from Arkansas will be called up and the discussion will probably last for two days. The rest of the week may be given to other contested election cases or to committees that feel that they have been neglected, and there is also a probability that the conference report on the river and harbor bill will be discussed.

Adjournment Prospects.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1.—The introduction of the Edmunds resolution in the senate does not indicate the possible time of the adjournment of congress. It will not be possible for the house and senate to clear up the work by Sept. 19, and probably not by Oct. 1. Speaker Reed is quoted as saying that an adjournment will probably be had Oct. 8. The president, it is known, does not expect congress to get away before the middle of October.

It is this belief that has made it seem wise to him to join his family in the mountains to get a little rest before the trying experience before the last days of the session. In addition to the debate in the house and the serious differences to be adjusted in conference on the tariff question, there is the contest over the bill to relieve the Federal courts, which is before the senate, and over the bankruptcy bill, which seems likely to pass, and for the lard bill, for which the senate will doubtless substitute the pure food bill or some other measure, congress can hardly get away before the 1st of October.

Saturday's Congress Proceedings.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1.—In the senate Saturday several unimportant bills were passed. The tariff bill was taken up and consideration of the wool schedule resumed and continued until adjournment.

In the house the bill to adjust the eight hours' claim was passed. Also a bill amending the alien labor act. Also a bill to prohibit the employment of contract labor on government works, and to prohibit the use of supplies furnished by convict labor. Also a bill relating to signals at sea, and also a bill relating to lands in Dakota.

SHE BECAME A CLAM.

Two Suitors Run a Novel Race for a Michigan Widow's Hand.

LAPEER, Mich., Sept. 1.—Lewis Clam, lives in Burnside township, this county, so does Albert Butler, and likewise a pretty young widow. Both Clam and Butler fell in love with the widow and she kept them both on the string. Clam called on her Tuesday night and told her how much he loved her and wanted her to change her name. She consented, and Friday was named.

Clam had no sooner left the house than Butler, who had been waiting outside, called and earnestly advised her not to be a Clam. She said she would not if he would make haste and get a marriage license. But promised to use all haste, but Clam found out Butler's intention, and as soon as the county clerk's office was opened Wednesday morning he got the license. Less than an hour afterward Butler got his license and Clam heard of it. Each knew the other's intention and each hired a horse to beat the other to the widow's house.

Butler played in hard luck, as he got a horse that had the heaves, and while his horse was standing still in the road and coughing as if his ears would drop off, Clam dashed by and arrived at the widow's house ten minutes ahead of Butler, and by the time the tardy young man arrived at the justice's house to urge his case the widow had become Mrs. Clam.

Wreckage Washed Ashore.

ASBURY PARK, N. J., Sept. 1.—The surf yesterday loosened and washed ashore a section of the hull of the brig Victoria, which has been embedded in the sand off this place for about seventeen years. The piece of wreckage was over seventy-five feet long and greatly damaged, and is what remains of the famous board walk.

MONEY GONE, BONDS RECOVERED.

An Absconding Bank Teller Suddenly Surprised By a Detective.

NEW YORK, Sept. 1.—On April 2 last Frederick Kimball, the paying teller of the People's saving bank of Worcester, Mass., absconded from that place with $43,500 worth of bonds and cash, abandoned his wife and two children and went to Europe with a French Canadian woman Estelle Le Bon. The woman came back to New York alone a few days ago and was spotted on the day of her arrival by Worcestor detectives. Letters to her were intercepted showing that Kimball was about to return.

Yesterday the woman left her home and was followed by the detective to the dock of the French line steamer La Bretagne where she eyed narrowly everyone who left the vessel. Suddenly she rushed up to a well-dressed middle-aged man, threw her arms around him and kissed him repeatedly. The detectives interrupted the love scene by arresting both participants and taking them to the police headquarters where Kimball was fully identified and all of the stolen bonds were found sewed in his undershirt but the stolen cash had been spent. Kimball took his arrest very hard. Both he and the Le Bon woman were locked up to await a requisition from Massachusetts.

GERMAN CELEBRATION

In Honor of the Landing of the First Immigrants in America.

EVANSVILLE, Ind., Sept. 1.—The anniversary of the landing of the first German immigrants in America will be celebrated on a grand scale in Evansville, Oct. 6 and 7.

All German societies of the city have combined to prepare for the event, and it is proposed to make this one of the most imposing celebrations ever held here. The first day will be devoted to the reception of visiting societies, and at night there will be grand mass choruses of all the German singing societies and orations by prominent speakers.

During the forenoon of the second day there will be a grand parade of all German societies and organizations. In the afternoon a monster picnic will occur at Garvin park. In the evening the event will close with an imposing historical parade, with brilliant illuminations and fire works.

She Cut the Scaffold Down.

NEWARK, N. J., Sept. 1.—Saturday a number of workmen swung a scaffold from the roof of the house of Mrs. Josephine Rogers in order to reach the upper portion of a house adjoining in course of construction. Mrs. Rogers ordered the scaffold down, but the command was not obeyed with sufficient alacrity to suit her. She darted into house and soon emerged with a knife with which she cut the rope holding one end of the scaffold precipitating William McMahon, a painter, a distance of thirty feet to the pavement. McMahon's breastbone was broken and internal injuries inflicted from which he will probably die. Mrs. Rogers was arrested and held for the grand jury.

Latest from Samoa.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 1.—The steamer Alameda brings advices from Apia, Samoa, under date of Aug. 12, as follows: Action has been taken here recently by the consul representatives of American, Great Britain and Germany to quell the disquietude growing out of the apparent efforts of the former king, Mataafa, to regain his lost power. The consuls issued a proclamation warning the discontented natives against forming any intrigues to place Mataafa in power, and declaring that Maletoa had been recognized asking of Samoa by the three powers, and that any Samoan village that should rebel against him would be severely punished.

Captured a Burglar.

WABASH, Ind., Sept. 1.—William Gribben, the clerk at Bach & Hipskind's clothing store, sleeps over the store. About 1 o'clock Saturday morning he was awakened by a noise in the store, and, going down in his bare feet, he found that some one was in the basement boring holes through the trap-door with a brace and bit. He hurried back to his room, dressed, went down to the street by an outside stairway and hunted up the night-watchman. Together they came back and neatly caught their man just as he was coming out of the basement after more tools. The burglar is about 38 years old, but refused to give his name or residence.

Went to Sleep on the Track.

EVANSVILLE, Ind., Sept. 1.—Joseph Isaacs, a well known citizen of this place, was run over and killed at Mount Vernon, Ind., yesterday, by a freight train. He was visiting relatives at that place, and it is supposed that he was under the influence of liquor, and laid down across the track to take a sleep. His body was horribly mangled.

Lived with a Broken Neck.

SEDALIA, Mo., Sept. 1.—F. J. Woodward, a former conductor on the Missouri, Kansas and Texas railroad, who had his neck broken in a wreck on July 10, arrived here yesterday. His head is kept in position by a brace. His general health is good. As far as is known he is the second person who ever lived after having his neck broken.

Pasteur's Theory a Success.

NEW YORK, Sept. 1.—Dr. Gibier, the head of the local Pasteur institute, arrived from Berlin yesterday by the steamer La Bretagne. He had attended the conference of medical men at Berlin which he says adopted the opinion that Pasteur's theory was a success.

LIVED ON THREE CENTS A DAY.

Funeral Ceremony Over the Remains of a Man That Starved Himself to Save Money and Left an Estate Worth $150,000—Other Ohio News.

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Sept. 1.—The funeral of George Gilbert took place yesterday. Gilbert's death, which occurred Thursday, reveals some strange doings of the man, who was a confirmed miser. During the last fifty years he had lived alone, devoting his time to saving money, which he deposited in banks. It was his boast that his living the year round did not cost him to exceed three cents per day.

In 1885 he sold a neighbor a load of hay for $27. Gilbert punctually collected the interest each year, and last year he accepted the principal, it having earned him over $100. Gilbert leaves an estate valued at $125,000 to $150,000, and has no relatives residing in this section.

Three Men Mangled at a Crossing.

CLEVELAND, O., Sept. 1.—Rhinehardt Schneider, Patrick Dooley and Michael Daly, the first two employes of a brewery, and the last named foreman of the National carbon works, were instantly killed about 7 o'clock Saturday evening by a Lake Shore express. The three men were crossing the track on a beer wagon, when the train, which was running about thirty miles an hour, struck them. Schneider was 24 years old and unmarried. Dooley was 39 years old and a widower: he leaves four children. Daly, who was 40 years old, leaves a widow and four children.

Engineer and Fireman Killed.

SHAWNEE, O., Sept. 1.—The engine of the construction train on the Cincinnati, Shawnee & Hocking railroad, at a point east of this place, on a down grade, left the track Saturday and turned over. Engineer Ed Hill and fireman John Scanlon were killed, and a brakeman was injured.

Reached a Ripe Age.

OREGONIA, O., Sept. 1.—Mrs. Liddy Hughs died at her home near Milgrove, Saturday, aged 96 years. She was the oldest resident of Warren county, and probably the oldest in the state.

DESTRUCTIVE PRAIRIE FIRE

In North Dakota—Thousands of Acres Burned Over.

MINNEAPOLIS, Sept. 1.—The Journal's Dickenson, Dak., special says: A widespread and destructive prairie fire ravaged hundreds of thousands of acres along the Little Missouri river two or three days ago, about forty miles from the main line on the Northern Pacific railroad. The great range of the H. T. Cattle company was swept clear. The fire was put out by means of horses, which were killed for the purpose of using them as drags to extinguish the flames. The horses were split up the back and the carcasses dragged over the country by long ropes. Twelve hundred head of horses were stampeded to the four winds.

Fatal Freight Smash-Up.

EVANSVILLE, Ind., Sept. 1.—A heavily-loaded freight train crashed through the Evansville and Terre Haute yards Saturday night, wrecking a coal office, and plowed across the street into a brick building. George Mexel, an old citizen, was passing along, and was knocked down and crushed by the wheels of the rear car, which remained on him for nearly half an hour. His sufferings were terrible, and he died while being conveyed to his home. The accident was caused by a "hostler," who was "stabling" the engine, but ran into the wrong switch, and went crashing into the train.

Reporter as a Detective.

OMAHA, Neb., Sept. 1.—At 4 o'clock Saturday morning the dead body of Ole Littlestitch, a Norwegian cooper, was found lying on the pavement in the lower part of town. His head had been crushed by a bludgeon which lay by his side. Robbery was the motive. Although the facts were reported to the police at once, no clew was found to look up the case, nor was any suspicion of murder held until a World-Herald reporter investigated the case and discovered the clew that points to certain murder and probable arrest of the criminal.

He Proved a Bigamist.

RICHMOND, Ind., Sept. 1.—L. D. Stubbs, attorney of Helen M. Miller Levy, has filed a complaint against Edward S. Levy for annulment of their marriage, which occurred April 8, 1890. It was a courtship of only a fortnight, and on July 30 she discovered that he had another wife, to whom he was married at Milwaukee, December 31, 1885, and from whom he was never divorced. He came here with a clothing store that located across the alley from her millinery store, and he is now in Kansas City.

Two Young Men Drowned.

GLOUCESTER, Mass., Sept. 1.—A small yacht owned by S. H. Hall, of Cambridgeport, a summer resident at Annis Quall, while sailing in Ipswhich bay yesterday, was capsized. Haywood Hall, nephew of the owner, 17, and W. H. Seymour, of Holyoke, Mass., 21 years old, were drowned.

FARM MORTGAGES.

Foreclosures in Kansas During the First Six Months of 1890.

TOPEKA, Kan., Sept. 1.—The Capitol publishes letters from forty-three district court clerks showing the number of foreclosures of farm mortgages in their respective counties during the first six months of 1890. The total number of foreclosures is 1,103, about twenty-five to the county.

The total for the 106 counties of the state on the same basis would be 2,650, or probably about $2,000,000.

A significant feature of the report is the fact that a large portion of the foreclosures are on unoccupied lands bought up and mortgaged for what they would bring by speculation.

Why It Is Popular.

Because it has proven its absolute merit over and over again, because it has an unequaled record of cures, because its business is conducted in a thoroughly honest manner, and because it combines economy and strength, being the only medicine of which "100 Doses One Dollar" is true—these strong points have made Hood's Sarsaparilla the most successful medicine of the day.

How's Your Liver?

Is the Oriental salutation, knowing that good health cannot exist without a healthy Liver. When the Liver is torpid the Bowels are sluggish and constipated, the food lies in the stomach undigested, poisoning the blood; frequent headache ensues; a feeling of lassitude, despondency and nervousness indicate how the whole system is deranged. Simmons Liver Regulator has been the means of restoring more people to health and happiness by giving them a healthy Liver than any agency known on earth. It acts with extraordinary power and efficacy.

NEVER BEEN DISAPPOINTED.

As a general family remedy for Dyspepsia, Torpid Liver, Constipation, etc., I hardly ever use anything else, and have never been disappointed in the effect produced; it seems to be almost a perfect cure for all diseases of the Stomach and Bowels.

MONDAY, - - - SEPTEMBER 1.

IT is the Chicago and Erie today. The old C. and A. ceased to exist in name on Sunday night, and we bow to the Chicago line under a new name today. Here is hoping that the change may be beneficial in the highest degree to Marion.

BUCYRUS has begun paving with brick and will have some modern streets that will be a credit to the city. Marion, with greater resources, should not be long in the rear. All progressive citizens are anxious for a better class of street improvements.

GALION is to have a lecture from Eli Perkins. It is said Eli wanted a date at Delaware but he was informed that the prince of liars would be no attraction there, that the census had made such phenomenal truth perverters there that Eli might get pointers himself in the Gem of Antiquity.

THE public schools are open for the year and the children are happy. The opening and closing of the schools are important events in the careers of the boys and girls, especially the little ones. They enjoy the close of vacation just as much as the last day of the school year, both events being anticipated in much enthusiasm. The youngsters rejoice to get at their books again and parents should rejoice that Marion has such excellent public schools.

PREPARATIONS are nicely under way for the county fair and a progressive management promises still greater achievements this year than in preceding ones, and there are none to dispute that Marion has one of the greatest county fairs in the state. This is no bit of boasting, for the fair here does excel all neighboring fairs. To make the exhibit this year a crowning triumph the co-operation of all is needed. Let the farmers and the town people join in the preparations; prepare to exhibit and prepare to attend.

ANY person who has had visions of a handsome display fountain at the court house, because water connections are being put in, is indulging in anticipations that are unfounded. The plumbing now in process is for street washers. The commissioners do not know what to do about a fountain. No cheap affair will do, and the purchase of an expensive one seems to frighten the board. A thousand dollar fountain would be about the proper thing, and the action in making some such purchase will be approved. We regret to see the fountain business delayed until the ladies will have to buy one, as they did at Lancaster.

WE are told that none of Marion's city engineers have kept a complete record of their work, that is to say the field notes that are taken in establishing grades are never put on record for the guidance of future work. As a result of this there are not only discrepancies in grades run by different engineers but a large amount of work is gone over and over again with a corresponding expense account. There seems to be a good opportunity just now to systematize the business in the engineer's office. Mr. Bell can make a hit by introducing a real reform. Of course that isn't the only office that will stand reform but it is a good important one to begin in.

IF the council wants to strike a popular chord tonight let it order the condemnation of some of the sidewalks that ought long since to have been replaced with stone. There have been times when there seemed no other hope but to waite until several wives became widows, then matters would be forced a little. But we ought not to have to wait for defenseless widows. Why not stir up a few of the fellows who are amply able to build good walks? They need a greater reverence for municipal orders. On east Center street—so long ago improved—are many lots in front of which the grades to the curb have never been made, and there are sidewalks so poor that in Stumptown they would be replaced without orders.

MARION'S record of triumphs in contests with all neighbors in the matter of approved sport is a highly creditable one. It dates back a good ways, too The old Star base ball club scarcely knew a defeat though it met strong competitors for early base ball honors, then the Mohawks won a record of victories that made local base ball enthusiasts unusually proud. Then there were the old Stars, of hook and ladder fame, who in the early seventies attracted admiring attention all over the state and won laurels in many a striking race. Our bands won fine prizes in contests that famous organizations competed in, and in a local way Marion horses have made splendid showings on the track. Now comes the Tennis club, with its refinement by the participation of charming young ladies, and that organization brings the banner of victory home. We always get to the front.

SOLDIERS' REUNION TOMORROW

The Annual Meeting of the Ninth District Veterans Large Attendance Promised

The reunion of the soldiers of the Ninth district, in this city, tomorrow, Sept. 2d, promises to be quite a notable event. It is the annual coming together of the brigade of veterans of the old Ninth Congressional district, and the circumstances are favorable for a large attendance and a splendid good time.

The announcement from the committee says "General W. H. Gibson, Captain P. H. Dowling, department commander of the Grand Army of the Republic, and other distinguished comrades, whom you will be glad to meet and hear, will greet and eloquently address the veterans. The committee hopes to have at this reunion Colonel Wheelock G. Veasey, commander-in-chief of the Grand Army of the Republic, General Russel A. Alger and General Daniel E. Sickles, the hero of Gettysburg; also General W. T. Sherman—'Uncle Billy'—for a half hour's stop on his way West."

A Camp Fire will be held at Music Hall in the evening at 7 o'clock. A genuine love feast among the old boys is announced. There will be distinguished speakers, besides the numerous recitals of experience on the battle field.

The public is invited to participate.

A WRECK AT MARTEL.

On the Big Four, Smashes up Seven Cars and Injures Two Men.

Train 47 on the Big Four broke apart at Martel Sunday morning. The head of the train had stopped for the target when the rear end of the train, which was following at a very rapid rate of speed, came in contact with the front section and with such tremendous force that seven cars were smashed and thrown from the track.

One of the cars contained two men, with a race horse. Both men received slight injuries, the horse remaining unhurt.

The wreck occurred about three o'clock Sunday morning and all Big Four trains were run over the Erie from Martel to Caledonia until 12 o'clock Sunday when the wreck was cleared. The train was a west bound freight, and it was not known by the trainmen that the train had broke until the rear end caught them.

—The Marion Manufacturing company has cut down its forces largely for the month of September. This is partly on account of the early close of the trade this year, and also to permit the annual invoice for the close of the business year. A new season's work will begin with October. In the meantime a fair sized force of men will be kept at necessary work and the company will make its exhibits at the various fairs.

—The new band which was organized with excellent musicians and promised to develop into so valuable a musical organization, has come to a sudden end. Leader Mesloe was among the men laid off at the Hoover works, to reduce the force, and the boys are without their able leader. It is regretted that Mesloe could not be continually employed here instead of returning to Springfield.

—T. J. Stocks has accepted a position as salesman in the dry goods house of Warner & Edwards, begining his new duties today. Mr. Stocks is a splendid fellow and an excellent salesman and his friends will be pleased to see him behind the counter again.

—Contractor Tixey, of Upper Sandusky, will begin moving the grand stand at the Fair grounds this week. The big ampitheatre is to be moved back from the track and may be brought a little south.

—A car from south bound freight train No. 56 was thrown off the track in the C., H. V. and T. yards Sunday night. No damage was done, and the car was placed on the rails again without much delay.

—Mrs. MacNamara, who has been ill at her home on north West street for some time, is reported as not being any better.

—George H. VanFleet is home from Chicago, whither he had gone in the interests of the Shields Car Coupler company.

—Master Perry Morrison, who has been spending the summer with his aunt near Urbana, returned home Saturday.

—Mrs. H. H. Heath spent last week at Urbana, visiting her daughter, Mrs. W. L. Powell, and attending the fair.

—Mrs. E. L. Graham returns to her home at Idaho Springs, Col., tonight, after a very pleasant visit here.

—Dr. Denman spent Sunday in Columbus, where Mrs. Denman is visiting at her parents' home.

ROYAL FLUSHES.

King Otho of Bavaria has fits of dementia in which he imagines he is a lion.

The empress of Germany, Fredericka, is a lineal descendant of the last Norwegian king, Hakan V, who died in 1319.

The crown princess of Denmark is the tallest princess in the world. Her height is announced to be 6 feet 3 inches.

Count Casa de la Miranda, the husband of Christina Nilsson, has been appointed an under secretary of state in the new Spanish ministry.

Lord Randolph Churchill does not regard himself with great favor. His political life, he thinks, has been a failure and racing has been more in his line.

Emperor William is said to be very democratic and social while in Berlin, but very aristocratic and exclusive when at his private residence in Potsdam.

The young emperor of Germany has dismissed Count seneschal von Liebenau for refusing to admit to the royal presence a deputation of workingmen recently.

A niece of Pope Leo has married Count Salvator Salimei. The bride is a daughter of the pope's sister. Her dowry was £2,400, to which the pope contributed £1,600.

Johann Orth, the Austrian archduke who resigned his rank to become a sea captain, persists in leading the simplest democratic life, despite all temptations to do otherwise.

Queen Victoria cares nothing about old lace. The Princess of Wales is fond of it, but says she can't afford to buy it. But the princess gets some pretty little presents of old lace sometimes.

The countess of Villa Gonzales is considered the handsomest woman in Madrid. She is tall, graceful in figure, with large black eyes and a beautiful complexion, and devotedly attached to her husband.

The king of Italy wants to be emperor, too, and thinks of making himself "emperor of Erythrea and Eastern Africa" on the strength of his protectorate of Abyssinia and some colonies on the Red sea.

A complete list of the sultan's wives shows that he has five first class wives, validés; twenty-four second class of morganatic wives, and some 250 third class partners, variously described as "favorites" and "slaves."

The empress of Germany is the possessor of an ungovernable temper, and her outbursts at times are said to be exceedingly humiliating to her friends. This may explain why the emperor takes a long summer trip alone.

THINGS WELL TO KNOW.

A little ammonia in tepid water will soften and cleanse the skin.

Gas is always objectionable in a sick room, as it exhausts the air, and in bedrooms generally it should not be used.

Old brass may be cleaned to look like new by pouring strong ammonia on it and scrubbing with a scrub brush; rinse in clear water.

Linoleum can be waxed, like a hardwood floor, and polished with a regular polishing brush. It is generally treated in this way in English houses.

Lamp chimneys are easily cleaned by holding them over the steam from a teakettle, and rubbing them with a soft cloth and polishing with paper.

If the fat in the frying kettle is hot before you are ready for it, put in a dry crust of bread. It will not burn as long as it has something to do, only when it is left idle.

A good gargle for sore throat: Vinegar, one wineglassful; honey, two tablespoonfuls; water, half a tumblerful. Pour the water on the honey, and stir it up; add the vinegar and use cold.

In baking all things to be browned on the bottom must be set directly on the bottom of the oven, but those things that are to be browned only on top or merely heated may be set on the grate.

Flowers are always bright and cheering, but they should not always be left in a room at night, and care should be taken to change the water frequently, and not leave them there at all when faded.

All delicate and fancy hosiery should be soaked in salt and water before wearing, and stains of leather on stockings can be taken out by dipping them into chlorine water before putting them into soapsuds.

For burns, sweet oil and cotton are the standard remedies. If not at hand sprinkle the part with flour, and wrap loosely with a soft cloth. Don't remove the dressing until the inflammation subsides, as it will break the new skin.

MORSELS OF GASTRONOMY.

The perfection of rice boiling, Chinese style, is to have every grain separate.

In these days there seem as many kinds of olive oil, so called, as there were colors in Joseph's coat.

Women eating corn in public would look less ridiculous and more graceful if they broke the ear in two.

A German professor says all who eat watercress consume at the same time a full assortment of minute insects.

Somebody writes to say it is no longer "good form" to use a bit of bread in connection with the fork in eating fish.

Whipped cream with peaches is a dainty dessert at Newport dinners, served in finest of glass saucers, and, strange to say, eaten with a fork.

Entrees and salmis are the dishes to be avoided at the generality of watering place hotels, as they are usually made of what is suggestively known as "leavings."

Turkey is served at most hotels all the year round, so that when Thanksgiving comes the "national bird" has lost nearly all its palatable charms.—New York Mail and Express.

ATCHISON PHILOSOPHY.

Some people are always getting into a box, and asking you to lift the lid.

There is nothing in the way of sin that does not cost more than it is worth.

A man never becomes so homely that he is not kind enough to the woman he is good to.

Criticism is praise if it comes from a friend, and the worst if it comes from an enemy.

If you sell a man on credit, you will be extra tool to feel grateful for a dead beat's trade.

There is more for the man whose crime is discovered to himself than it appears to the world.

When you break a promise you weaken the confidence with which you hold your friend's confidence.

Our worst fault is the one which we always [illegible] to express. Foolish the [illegible] expression.

[illegible] Don't [illegible] because he can't [illegible] a thousand friends who like you for policy's sake.—Atchison Globe.

ODE TO A SMALL PIG.

Oh, thou little embryo bacon,
Rooting in the mud!
Dost thou think that so much dirt is
Healthy for thy blood?
Art thou happy with thy nozzle
In the earth to dig?
Does thy heart leap high with pleasure,
Oh, thou infant pig?

Dost thou play around the smoke house,
With thy little grunt,
Where thy hams will soon be curing?
Dost thou think they won't?
Dost thou know that Philip Armour
Hails the rolling sea
In a yacht of gold and silver
Fashioned out of thee?

Dost thou know that mighty Bismarck
Is thy rampant foe—
That where German flags are waving
Thou canst never go?
Many of thy fathers tried it,
But it wouldn't work.
Does thy spirit yearn to travel,
Thou small Yankee pork?

Oh, thou guileless, infant sausage,
Rooting deep and hard,
Men will smooth their path to riches
With thy slippery lard!
Pink and white thy little nose is,
Twisted is thy tail.
Thou hast got a mighty mission
In life's darksome vale!

Found at Last.

Housekeeper (to pleasant faced girl at employment agency)—Have you any objections to the country?

Girl (politely)—None at all, madam.

Housekeeper—I have a very large family.

Girl—The more the merrier.

Housekeeper—Seven children, two of them quite young.

Girl—I love little children.

Housekeeper—It will be necessary for you to bake bread, wash and get the meals. I attend to the pastry and chamberwork myself.

Girl—I will also make the pastry and do the rest if you will allow me.

Housekeeper—I cannot give you more than three afternoons off.

Girl—Two will be sufficient, perhaps more than I will want, as my plan is to give strict attention to my household duties, and thus get the work done up promptly every day, so as to have plenty of opportunities to rest between times.

Housekeeper—I am delighted——

Stranger (suddenly entering)—Sorry to interrupt you, madam, but you are conversing with one of my patients who has just escaped from the Hopelessly Incurable Lunatic asylum."—New York Weekly.

By Any Other Name.

"Before I engage board with you, Mrs. Small, I wish to ask one question."

Too Violent Exercise.

Cumso—The doctor says I must take plenty of exercise. I don't know whether to try Indian clubs or dumbbells.

Mrs. Cumso—I wish you would come out with me and wheel the baby carriage a little way.

Cumso—Um—no, Maria. I don't want to overdo the thing at first, you know.—West Shore.

A Poser.

Alice (aged five)—Are you very tired, mamma?

Mamma—Yes, I can't climb hills on a hot summer day without feeling tired, as I could when I was a little girl like you.

Lulu (aged three)—Mamma, who used to take us out walking when you was a little girl like Alice?—Yenowine's News.

Not to Be Caught in That Way.

Boys—If yer want us come in an' take us.

Policeman—If you don't come out by the time I've counted ten I'll carry off your close.

Boys (triumphantly)—We're swimmin' wid our close on!—Life.

A Distant Relative.

Sick Man (making his will)—I have no near relatives. I have a brother.

Lawyer—Brother! Isn't he a near relative?

Sick Man—No, sir. He lives in Australia.—West Shore.

PETERS SAYS HE CAN FLY.

He Says He Knows It Because He Has Already Successfully Flown.

Patrick Peters has arrived from Prince Edward's Island, bringing a machine which he claims will solve in the most satisfactory manner the question, "Can a man fly?" Mr. Peters claims that with his machine he can fly through the air with the greatest of ease," that he has done it many a time, and is perfectly willing to try again.

He says that five years ago he made up his mind that he could make a machine that would navigate the air He objected to balloons, as they were too far beyond the control of those who risked their lives in them, but believed that a machine should be constructed capable of being as much under the management of the flyer as a horse rake. What he wanted to do was to go up and down at pleasure

Peters likes to talk about his "bird," as he calls his machine, and his talk goes a long way to make the listener have faith in his perfect harmony. He says he took the wings and motion of a bird for a model, believing that if he could "fly like a bird" it would be quite enough. He did not succeed at first, and it was only after making repeated failures that he brought his idea to a point where he could say with any degree of confidence, "I can fly."

At last he constructed a "bird" of the following dimensions: From the head to the tail, 16 feet; from point to point of the wings, 14 feet, and from the body to the end of each wing, 3 feet. The seat was in the body, and the motive power used in the propelling of the machine was obtained by a combination of wheels.

His first real trial of his machine was made when he passed over a forest, making two miles in four minutes. From his description of the way things looked below it would seem probable that he went at least 2,000 feet up in the air, and perhaps more than twice that distance. He says he went up and down at will, managing his thirty-eight pound machine without the least degree of trouble.

He is anxious to give a public exhibition of what he can do, and has the machine with him, so he says. He is willing to "go up anywhere," but wants to make a little money by doing so. He says he is willing to give any desired test and can go any distance desired. He can keep a few feet above the ground or go up into midair. He says it is a perfectly easy thing to fly with one of his machines. Portland people who know him say he is honest, and he acts that way.—Portland Press.

The Parson's Substitute.

A young clergyman had gone to supply the vacant pulpit of a church in a midland village. He was just out of the theological seminary, and had an extremely boyish appearance.

A little before the hour the new minister made his way almost unnoticed into the pulpit, where he was concealed from view by the reading desk in front of him. But an old lady, who sat close on the right of the pulpit in consideration of her deafness, was much concerned to see a boy in the place of the expected clergyman. So she arose very softly, stepped on tiptoe to the pulpit stairs, and, beckoning with her forefinger, whispered loudly in coaxing accents.

"Come down, my boy. You mustn't sit there That's the place for the minister!"—London Tit-Bits

The Transposed Piano.

Concert goers to whose lot it may have fallen to listen to a song being delivered in one key while the accompaniment was played in another will greet with satisfaction the introduction of a transposing piano, by means of which music can be transposed into any key at will. The object in view is accomplished by a movable back, i. e. The solid back upon which the strings are strung instead of being rigidly fixed to the case, as in the ordinary way, is fitted on rollers and is moved literally with the greatest ease by means of a lever underneath the keyboard at the side of the performer In all other respects the construction is the same as in the ordinary piano Any desired change of key can be made in two or three seconds. The movement can be worked with perfect ease, and the mechanism is of so simple a character that its liability to get out of order is practically nil.—New York Telegram

Forcible Language from the Pulpit.

The pastor of one of the Babylon (Long Island) churches is quoted as delivering the following brief but pointed discourse at the morning service for the benefit of the gaudily dressed young men who had been in the habit of sauntering into church late and leaving before the services closed "For the benefit of the young men who come into this church after service has commenced and leave before the collection plate is passed I wish to say that the hour of service is 11 o'clock and the benediction is pronounced by 12. I would also remark that the style of attire adopted by these young men, while perhaps very becoming, is more suited for tennis court, ball field or bull fight than for the house of God."

The sixty-third meeting of the Society of German Naturalists and Physicians will be held at Bremen from Sept. 15 to 20 The last occasion when that learned body met there was in 1884, but since that year it has largely increased in number, and now as many as one thousand members have sent in their names as intending to be present.

Restored After Five Years.

Five years ago little Johnny Hale, then a lad only 8 years old, was stolen from his home, near Marion, Ind., by a band of gypsies. The distracted parents spent several years trying to find traces of their missing boy, but gave up the search, mourning him as dead. The lad became attached to his gypsy friends and followed them on their pilgrimage through the western states. The other day a boy—none other than Johnny Hale—turned up at the residence of a farmer named Joseph Weikel, living near Elkhart. His clothes were ragged and he had the appearance of a boy tramp. He told Mr. Weikel that the gypsies with whom he had been making his home had ill-treated him and that he had run away, hoping to find his way home to his father and mother. The parents at Marion were telegraphed, and the boy mourned for dead for five long years is to be restored to them.—Chicago Herald.

Lone Up by Foot Pads.

ALTOONA, Pa., Sept. 1.—"Your money or your life," was the demand which met Samuel Frances while walking in the eastern portion of the city at an early hour Sunday morning. It came from foot-pads and when Frances made a desperate resistance he was brutally assaulted and left to die. His tongue was wrenched from its root in the attempt to keep him quiet and his condition, when he crawled to a neighboring house unable to speak, was pitiable. He may recover. A large sum of money was taken from him.

A Good Nurse

Should not hesitate to wait upon those ill with such diseases as small-pox, cholera or scarlet fever. There is little to be feared by persons waiting on the sick if they will use Darbys Prophylactic Fluid freely. In sick rooms it should be exposed on a plate or saucer, and the patient sponged off with the Fluid diluted. For safety, cleanliness and comfort in the sick room the fluid is indispensable.

The Real Difficulty.

Jagway—What's the use of paying $40 or $50 for a suit? I got this for $20.

Travers—Yes, but you had to pay cash for it.—Clothier and Furnisher.

RELIGION IN POLITICS.

DR. TALMAGE'S PRACTICAL SERMON FOR PRACTICAL MEN.

When the Ballot Box Is Surrounded by Corruption Is the Time for the Christian to Work Hardest—Daniel's Experience.

WACO, Tex., Aug. 31.—Dr. Talmage today delivered the following discourse on the text, "Then the king commanded, and they brought Daniel and cast him into the den of lions."—Daniel vi, 16.

Darius was king of Babylon, and the young man Daniel was so much a favorite with him that he made him prime minister, or secretary of state. But no man could gain such a high position without exciting the envy and jealousy of the people. There were demagogues in Babylon who were so appreciative of their own abilities that they were affronted at the elevation of this young man. Old Babylon was afraid of young Babylon. The taller the cedar the more apt it is to be riven of the lightning.

These demagogues asked the king to make a decree that anybody that made a petition to any one except the king within thirty days should be put to death. King Darius, not suspecting any foul play, makes that decree. The demagogues have accomplished all they want, because they know that no one can keep Daniel from sending petitions before God for thirty days.

So far from being afraid, Daniel goes on with his supplications three times a day, and is found on his housetop making prayer. He is caught in the act. He is condemned to be devoured by the lions. Rough executioners of the law seize him and hasten him to the cavern. I hear the growl of the wild beasts, and I see them pawing the dust, and as they put their mouths to the ground the solid earth quakes with their bellowing. I see their eyes roll, and I almost hear the fiery eyeballs snap in the darkness. These monsters approach Daniel. They have an appetite keen with hunger. With one stroke of their paw or one snatch of their teeth they may leave him dead at the bottom of the cavern. But what a strange welcome Daniel receives from these hungry monsters. They fawn around him, they lick his hand, they bury his feet in their long manes. That night he has calm sleep, with his head pillowed on the warm necks of the tamed lions.

SAVED BY GOD.

But not so well does Darius the king sleep. He loves Daniel, and hates this stratagem by which he has been condemned. All night long the king walks the floor. He cannot sleep. At the least sound he starts and his flesh creeps with horror. He is impatient for the dawning of the morning. At the first streak of the daylight Darius hastens forth to see the fate of Daniel. The heavy palace doors open and clang shut long before the people of the city waken. Darius goes to the den of lions; he looks in. All is silent. His heart stops. He feels that the very worst has happened; but gathering all his strength he shouts through the rifts of the rock, "O Daniel! is the God whom thou servest continually able to deliver thee?" There comes rolling up from the deep darkness a voice which says: "O king! live forever. My God has sent his angel to shut the lions' mouths that they have not hurt me."

Then Daniel is brought out from the den. The demagogues are hurled into it, and no sooner have they struck the bottom of the den than their flesh was rent, and their bones cracked, and their blood spurted through the rifts of the rock, and as the lions make the rocks tremble with their roar they announce to all ages that while God will defend his people the way of the ungodly shall perish.

THE CRIME OF SUCCESS.

Learn first from this subject that the greatest crime that you can commit in the eyes of many is the crime of success. What had Daniel done that he should be flung to the lions? He got to be prime minister. They could not forgive him for that; and behold in that a touch of unsanctified human nature as seen in all ages of the world. So long as you are pinched in poverty, so long as you are running the gantlet between landlord and tax gatherer, so long as you find it hard work to educate your children, there are people who will say: "Poor man, I am sorry for him. He ought to succeed, poor man!"

But after awhile the tide turns in your favor. That was a profitable investment you made. You bought at just the right time. Fortune becomes good humored and smiles upon you. Now you are being in some department successful, your success chills some one. Those men who used to sympathize with you stand along the street, and they scowl at you from under the rim of their hats. You have more money or more influence than they have, and you ought to be scowled at from under the rim of their hats. You catch a word or two as you passed by them. "Stuck up," says one. "Got it dishonestly," says another. "Will burst soon," says a third. Every stone in your new house is laid on their hearts. Your horses' hoofs went over their nerves.

Every item of your success has been to them an item of discomfiture and despair. Just as soon as in any respect you rise above your fellows, if you are more virtuous, if you are more wise, if you are more influential, you cast a shadow on the prospect of others. The road to honor and success is within reach of the enemy's guns. Jealousy says, "Stay down, or I'll knock you down." "I do not like you," said the snowflake to the snowbird. "Why don't you like me?" said the snowbird. "Oh!" said the snowflake, "you are going up and I am coming down." Young merchants, young lawyers, young doctors, young mechanics, young artists, young farmers, at certain times there were those to sympathize with you, but now that you are becoming master of your particular occupation or profession, how is it now, young lawyers, young doctors, young artists, young farmers, how is it now? The greatest crime that you can commit is the crime of success.

DECISION OF CHARACTER.

Again, my subject impresses me with the value of decision of character in any department. Daniel knew that if he continued his adherence to the religion of the Lord he would be hurled to the lions, but having set his compass well he sailed right on.

For the lack of that element of decision of character so eminent in Daniel many men are ruined for this world, and ruined for the world to come. A great many at forty years of age are not settled in any respect, because they have not been able to make up their mind. Perhaps they will go west. Perhaps they will go east. Perhaps they will not. Perhaps they will go north. Perhaps they may go south. Perhaps they will not. Perhaps they may make that investment in real estate or in railroads. Perhaps they will not. They are like a steamer that should go out of New York harbor, starting for Glasgow, and the next day should change for Havre de Grace, and the next for Charleston, and the next for Boston, and the next for Liverpool—these men on the sea of life, everlastingly tacking ship and making no headway. Or they are like a man who starts to build a house in the Corinthian style and changes it to Doric, and then completes it in the Ionic, and is cursed by all styles of architecture.

START RIGHT AND KEEP ON.

Young man, start right and keep on. Have decision of character. Character is like the goldfinch of Tonquin; it is magnificent while standing firm, but loses all its beauty in flight. How much decision of character in order that these young men may be Christians! Their old associates make sarcastic flings at them. They go on excursions and they do not invite them. They prophesy that he will give out. They wonder if he is not getting wings. As he passes they grimace and wink and chuckle, and say, "There goes a saint."

Oh, young man, have decision of character. You can afford in this matter of religion to be laughed at. What do you care for the scoffs of these men who are affronted because you will not go to ruin with them? When the grave cracks open under their feet, and grim messengers push them into it, and eternity comes down hard upon their spirit, and conscience stings, and hopeless ruin lifts them up to hurl them down, will they laugh then?

I learn also from my subject that men may take religion into their worldly business. Daniel had enough work to do to occupy six men. All the affairs of state were in his hands—questions of finance, questions of war, of peace, all international questions were for his settlement or adjustment. He must have had a correspondence vast beyond all computation. There was not a man in all the earth who had more to do than Daniel, the secretary of state, and yet we find him three times a day bowing before God in prayer. There are men in our day who have not a hundredth part of Daniel's engagements who say they are too busy to be religious. They have an idea somehow that religion will spoil their worldly occupation, that it will trip the accountant's pen, or dull the carpenter's saw, or confuse the lawyer's brief, or disarrange the merchant's store shelf.

IMPERTINENT RELIGION.

They think religion is impertinent. They would like to have it very well seated beside them in church on the Sabbath, to find the place in the psalm book, or to nudge them awake when they get sleepy under the didactic discourse; or they would like to leave it in the pew on Sabbath evening, as they go out closing the door, saying, "Good night, religion; I'll be back next Sunday!" But to have religion go right along by them all through life, to have religion looking over their shoulder when they are making a bargain, to have religion take up a bag of dishonest gold and shake it and say, "Ha! ha! where did you get that?"—they think that is an impertinent religion. They would like to have a religion to help them when they are sick, and when the shadow of death comes over them they would like to have religion as a sort of night key with which to open the door of heaven; but religion under other circumstances they take to be an impertinence. Now, my friends, religion never robbed a man of a dollar. Other things being equal, a mason will build a better wall, a cabinet maker will make a better chair, a plumber will make a better pipe, a lawyer will make a better plea, a merchant will sell a better bill of goods.

I say other things being equal. Of course when religion gives a man a new heart it does not propose to give him a new head, or to intellectualize him, or to change a man's condition when his ordinary state is an overthrow of the philosophical theory that a total vacuum is impossible; but the more letters you have to write, the more burdens you have to carry, the more miles you have to travel, the more burdens you have to lift, the more engagements you have to meet, the more disputes you have to settle, the more opportunity you have of being a Christian.

THE BUSIEST MEN THE BEST MEN.

If you have a thousand irons in the fire, you have a thousand more opportunities of serving God than if you had only one iron in the fire. Who so busy as Christ? And yet who a millionth part as holy? The busiest men the best men. All the persons converted in Scripture busy at the time of their being converted. Matthew attending to his custom house duties; the Prodigal Son feeding swine; Lydia selling purple; Simon Peter hauling in the net from the sea; Saul spurring his horse toward Damascus, going down on his law business. Busy! busy! Daniel with all the affairs of state weighing down upon his soul, and yet three times a day worshiping the God of heaven.

Again, I learn from this subject that a man may take religion into his politics. Daniel had all the affairs of state on hand, yet a Christian. He could not have kept his elevated position unless he had been a thorough politician, and yet all the thrusts of officials and all the danger of disgrace did not make him yield one iota of his high toned religious principle. He stood before that age, he stands before all ages, a specimen of a Christian politician.

So there have been in our day and in the days of our fathers men as eminent in the service of God as they have been eminent in the service of the state. Such was Benjamin F. Butler, attorney general of New York in the time of your fathers. Such was John McLean, of Ohio. Such was George Briggs, of Massachusetts. Such was Theodore Frelinghuysen, of New Jersey. Men faithful to the state, at the same time faithful to God.

OUR HOPE IS IN THE YOUNG MEN.

It is absurd to expect that men who have been immersed in political wickedness for thirty or forty years shall come to reformation; and our hope is in the young men who are coming up, that they have patriotic principle and Christian principle side by side when they come to the ballot box and cast their first vote, and that they swear allegiance to the government of heaven as well as to the government of the United States. We would have Bunker Hill mean less to them than Calvary, and Lexington mean less to them than Bethlehem.

But because there are bad men around the ballot box is no reason why Christian men should retreat from the arena. The last time you ought to give up your child or forsake your child is when it is surrounded by a company of Choctaws; and the last time to surrender the ballot box is when it is surrounded by impurity and dishonesty and all sorts of wickedness.

Daniel stood on a most unpopular platform. He stood firmly, though the demagogues of the day hissed at him and tried to overthrow him. We must carry our religion into our politics. But there are a great many men who are in favor of taking religion into national politics who do not see the importance of taking it into city politics, as though a man were intelligent about the welfare of his neighborhood and had no concern about his own home.

Religion would drive out all base personalities from politics. You have a right to discuss men's politics and denounce their political sentiments, or receive them, as you will; but you have no right to assail their private character, as is done every autumn. That is not carrying religion into politics. Now you can always tell without asking, in any contest, what candidate I will vote for. It is always for the man who is most badgered, and most abused, and most spit upon, and most howled at. You have a right to contest a man's political sentiments; you have no right for base political purposes to assail his private moral character.

LIONS SURROUND YOU.

My subject also impresses me with the fact that lions cannot hurt a good man. No man ever got into worse company than Daniel got into when he was thrown into the den. What a rare morsel that fair young man would have been for the hungry monsters! If they had plunged at him he could not have climbed into a niche beyond the reach of their paw or the snatch of their tooth. They came pleased all about him, as a hunter's hounds at the well known whistle come bounding to his feet.

You need not go to Numidia to get among lions. You all have had them after you—the lion of financial distress, the lion of sickness, the lion of persecution. You saw that lion of financial panic putting his mouth down to the earth, and he roared until all the banks and all the insurance companies quaked. With his nostril he scattered the ashes on the domestic hearth. You have had trial after trial, misfortune after misfortune, lion after lion; and yet they have never hurt you if you put your trust in God, and they never will hurt you. They did not hurt Daniel, and they cannot hurt you.

The Persians used to think that spring rain falling into sea shells would turn into pearls; and I have to tell you that the tears of sorrow turn into precious gems when they drop into God's bottle. You need be afraid of nothing putting your trust in God. Even death, that monster lion whose den is the world's sepulcher, and who puts his paw down amid thousands of millions of the dead, cannot affright you.

When in olden times a man was to get the honors of knighthood he was compelled to go fully armed the night before among the tombs of the dead carrying a sort of spear, and then when the day broke he would come forth, and amid the sound of cornet and great parade he would get the honors of knighthood. And so it will be with the Christian in the night before heaven, as fully armed with spear and helmet of salvation he will wait and watch through the darkness until the morning dawns, and then he will take the honors of heaven amid that great throng with snowy robes streaming over seas of sapphire.

There has recently been current a story to the effect that the venerable mother of Lieut. Mrs. Cushing is living at St. Louis in easy circumstances.

One of the latest proposals is to lay a pipe line for supplying New York with milk, as Pittsburg and some other cities are supplied with natural gas or oil from the wells. The lacteal supply, of course, cannot be got by boring, but it is to be collected at various points and sent along the pipe for distribution in New York. It is said a company is being formed with a capital of about $750,000 to carry out the scheme.

Why They Are Popular.

Some weeks ago the Marquis of Lorne and Princess Louise were returning to London from a tour in the provinces. They occupied a compartment reserved for them in the express train. At one of the stations the rush of passengers was so great that the cars filled up and many people could not find places. Thereupon the marquis opened the door of his compartment and announced that there was room therein for four people. "Beg your pardon," said the guard, "but the compartment is reserved and I can't admit any others." "But I'll be responsible for the consequences," said the marquis. The guard was sorely puzzled.

His orders were strict, and he didn't recognize the marquis. "Would you mind giving me your card?" suggested the poor fellow. "I shouldn't like to get into trouble, sir." "I have no card," answered the marquis smiling; "but I am the Marquis of Lorne, and my wife, the Princess Louise, wishes you to admit four of those passengers to this compartment."

That settled it, of course. I give this story as one of many showing why the marquis and his wife are so popular in the island.—Eugene Field's London Letter.

Gospel Outdoors.

The greatest and most largely attended of all the camp meetings are those at Ocean Grove, N. J.; Mountain Lake Park, Md.; Pitman Grove, Pa.; Old Orchard Beach, Me., and Martha's Vineyard. Thousands congregate at these gatherings, and during the week or ten days of spiritual wrestling scenes are enacted which it would be impossible to duplicate anywhere else in the world. The general management and programme of the meetings is pretty much the same all over.

Days are set for "Holiness Meetings," at which both men and women take part, and where remarkable things occur when the worshipers are "under conviction," and where, be it said, many receive good impulses which last as long as their lives. Then there are the "Children's Days," "Young People's Meetings," "Business Men's Meetings," temperance and Sunday school meetings or "conventions," and "Old Folks' Days." At all of these services there is a fervor and directness that comes from the contact with nature in the woods, and grace has full swing while the meeting lasts.

It is in the west and south, however, that the typical camp meeting is found; for the east, with its many improvements, has obliterated some of the old time features.—New York Commercial Advertiser.

A Muscular Minister.

H. Price Collier, the young Unitarian divine, is the latest example of muscular Christianity. He is a young man of excellent physique and a very fair all round athlete. He pulls a good oar, plays tennis and is an enthusiast in baseball matters. The Brooklyn Heights Tennis club recently made him their president. Sometimes, even since his assumption of his Brooklyn pastorate, he will go into training for three or four weeks at a time. Frequently he may be met on one of his pedestrian trips. At such times he wears a regular athlete's "sweater" under his cassock. He walks at a brisk pace out to Prospect park, and there runs a mile or so; returning home, he is rubbed down, and then goes back to his desk and his interrupted sermon. Few clergymen carry their college training into their clerical life, but Mr. Collier's plan has a beneficial effect on his preaching, and he is aware of it. He preaches a broad, free, liberal theology, and his reputation is rapidly growing to be more than a local one.—New York Telegram.

Decadence of Bible Illustrations.

Where is the American Bible illustrator? It is queer that among a people in whose life the religious element plays so important a part no notable illustrated edition of the Bible has been published, with one exception. That is the "Illuminated Bible" published by the Harpers in 1846. It contained 1,600 illustrations, 1,400 of them being after drawings by John Gadsby Chapman, an artist noted at the time, but now quite forgotten. As examples of wood engraving especially many of the illustrations were excellent. Excepting this, I can recall no other. I mean, of course, Bibles illustrated by prominent American artists, and not cheap reprints of the illustrations by Dore, Bida and other prominent artists of France, Germany and England.

So far as our painters are concerned religious art had some votaries in the 40's and 50's, in the days of Chapman and Thomas P. Rossiter. Today it has practically none, if we except the designers of church decorations and stained glass windows.—Epoch.

Snarlers.

Ill conditioned dogs do not all go upon four legs. Most of us have seen snarling curs upon two. If there is a hateful biped on the face of the earth it is your habitual snarler—the man who has reduced ill nature to a system, and practices it methodically at all times and seasons.

These professors of the snarling art of course snarl at everybody and everything, but their especial targets are their families. They reverse the chemistry of the bee. Instead of extracting honey from the weeds of life, they contrive to extract poison out of its honey. It has been said that "man never is, but always to be, blest;" but that's not the case with the snarler. He neither is nor can be blest. In fact, he won't be blest; but on the contrary is a curse to himself and to all who come in contact with him.

Oh! the wives that are snarled at! Vain are their efforts to please. All their winning ways are met with contumely, all their fond words choked in the utterance with snappish yelps of anger and contempt.—New Lork Ledger.

Bishop Perry's Reminiscences.

Bishop Perry, who is about to give the world his reminiscences, is the retired octogenarian first bishop of Melbourne. He has survived to see two successors in that see. He was consecrated in Westminster Abbey in 1847, and his episcopate covers the whole of the exciting epoch of the early gold fields. He is one of the few men now living who witnessed the birth of Ballarat and Bendigo, and who had special opportunities of studying life and character on the Australian gold fields under the most stirring and romantic conditions. His recollections ought to be interesting.—Pall Mall Gazette.

The Rev. Joseph Parker, of London, now preaches one minute sermons after his more elaborate efforts. He directs these brief discourses to some particular class.

CHICAGO AND ERIE.

The Chicago and Atlantic Becomes the Property of the Erie—Instructions Received and Officers Appointed.

Sunday night at 12 o'clock the Chicago and Atlantic railroad became the property of the Erie, it having been turned over to them by the United States court.

Instructions have been sent here that the line will be known hereafter as the Chicago and Erie and that C. L. Maynes has been appointed superintendent of the C. and E., and A. M. Tucker, general superintendent. A. E. Donaldson, formerly one of the vice presidents, has been made auditor by the change, and the order further states that the rest of the officers will remain in their respective offices as heretofore.

Instructions were also received that Marion would be made a local station. This change will no doubt cause the discharge or at least the changing of a number of the eighteen clerks employed at the junction, but there is nothing certain as to whom they will be or how many of them. It is expected that the up-town freight office and the transfer will be moved to what was formerly known as the junction of the C. and A. and Erie.

An Accident at the Junction.

While train 5 was switching at the junction Sunday afternoon a switchman named Myers was standing between two coaches, which were to be coupled together. The engine backed down slowly, striking Myers and knocking him down, but he got out in time to escape serious injuries. Although he is badly bruised up by his scramble, his injuries will not cause him to lay off from work.

Special Meeting of S. V.

Members of M. and M. Corn Camp are requested to meet in the camp room tonight to make arrangements for Tuesday's reunion.
F. S. TITUS, 1st Sergeant.

—The Erie will run by the block system on the third division between Galion and Kent. There are numerous steep grades and curves on this division, and under the new system trains will be operated with perfect safety from collisions, for two trains will not be permitted on the same block of one track at one time. The blocks will average about five miles apart, and it will be necessary to erect a siding on this division, where there are now telegraph stations, five block towers and establish five new telegraph offices. The work will commence at once, and it is thought the system will be in operation within sixty days.

—Of the Kindergarden which appears at Music Hall Wednesday night, the Wheeling Intelligencer says: "The Grand was filled last night with an audience which warmly greeted the "Kindergarden" company. The performance has much about it that is pleasing and meritorious. The songs are popular, the dances good, the comedians funny and the girls pretty. The company carries their own band and orchestra, which enables them to give a good, smooth musical performance. The same bill will be presented this and tomorrow evenings and tomorrow afternoon, and should draw good houses."

—Galion Sun-Review: The Erie and Big Four have entered into a contract whereby the Big Four will run over the Erie line from Dayton to Durbin, thence over the Ohio, Indiana and Western, and the Cincinnati, Sandusky and Cleveland. The Big Four surrenders its lease of the Cincinnati, Sandusky and Cleveland. In consideration of all this the Erie is to use the Big Four from Dayton to Cincinnati, instead of the C., H. and D. as at present. The Big Four will parallel the Cincinnati, Sandusky and Cleveland to Columbus at once.

—Here is a fine bit of news from the Delaware Gazette, which we only wish was founded on official authority. It is worth reading, anyhow: "Marion will undoubtedly, continue to be the eastern terminus of the Chicago and Atlantic railway and the westean terminus of the Erie railway. Galion made a desperate effort to secure these advantages, but Marion offered equal if not superior inducements and captured the plum. This will locate the C. and A. repair shops and the Erie offices at Marion."

—The roster of the Music Hall force for the season is announced as follows: Jas. B. Sargent, manager, H. B. Day, treasurer; George Christian, Jr., Oriey Rapp, Tracy Allen and Earl Sargent, ushers; Will R. Sargent, stage manager, George Shute, assistant stage manager, Norris Christian, door keeper; George McMurray, gas manager, George Blum, curtain; Wm. Johnston, properties. The Janitors are Charles Berry and George Smith.

—Miss Ollie Hipsher, a young woman employed at the Kerr House and making her home at Frank O'Brien's, on Park street, was hooked by a cow Sunday evening Miss Hipsher had started up street when a cow belonging to John Monahan attacked her, threw her down and tossed her fully twenty feet. Aside from tearing her clothing and being roughly bruised, the young woman escaped serious injury.

—Prospect Monitor Mrs Boyd and family have returned from Marion, where they have been spending the summer.——Mrs B P Sweney and two children, of Marion, spent Thursday with relatives in Prospect ——Mrs. Jas L Lust and son, of Marion, are visiting relatives and friends in Prospect —— W. L. Warner, of Marion, was in town Friday on business.

—Mrs. P. A. Bowen and son Charles and daughters, Misses Laura and Mary, spent Sunday at the home of Wilson Imbody, at Agosta.

A Horse Killed.

East bound freight train No. 42, on the Big Four, had among its cars one loaded with horses, bound for Providence, R. I., Sunday night. In some way the car caught fire and was burning at a lively rate by the time the train reached here. One of the horses was so badly burnt that it had to be shot. The car was saved and the rest of the horses were uninjured. The horses were shipped on to their destination.

All Trains on Time.

We are pleased to receive reliable information to the effect that all passenger trains of the Big Four route to the East, in connection with the New York Central railroad, are running promptly on time in both directions, and passengers via this popular line need have no fears of delay or detention.
